Ecclesiasticus 2:16
“What You Want”

They that fear the Lord, will seek
that which is well
pleasing unto
him, and they that
love him, shall be
filled with the law.

Do you really “fear
the Lord”?

Do you personally
have a very high

regard for God—
not just by what
you say, but as is
indicated by what
you do?

Are you looking
to find what is
pleasing to God
and purposefully
searching to know
what God wants?

Do you
intentionally
saturate yourself in God's guidelines
for living?

Contrarily, do you
cringe when you
hear phrases about
God's commands?

Does the very

word “law” bring
thoughts of
oppression from
rules designed to
control and
restrict?

Do phrases such
as “God’s law” and “the law of the Lord” seem bothersome or
outdated to you?

Probably most adults, at least those in North America, are not required to participate in any religious activity.

They can decide for themselves whether or not they will seek a relationship with

God.

So, there is choice.

You don't have to
seek what pleases
God and you don't have to be filled
with God's law.

However, if you do
choose that way of life, you will

discover that it's not by force. Such desires are a
natural
progression of
the growth of
God in your life.

You seek to know
what pleases God
and you are filled
with God's law

because that's what you WANT.
